The Goal

To create a checkpointed project delivery method,
with clear benefits and expectations.

Why should we change how we work?

Why?

- ❖ Changing our mindset from start up to scale up while staying on top of quality
- ❖ Increasing client visibility and expectation
- ❖ Processes are made to:
 - Protect you and the team
 - Reduce rework and ambiguity
 - Help us to defend against hostile client situations

Ⓢ This is not an exercise in micromanagement

Everything's Changing

Yes and no...

There is no change to...

- Expectations - same requirements just with a process behind it
- IRBo

We're trialling formalised...

- Pre-build check-ins
- Post go-live check-ins
- Monthly PSM retro's

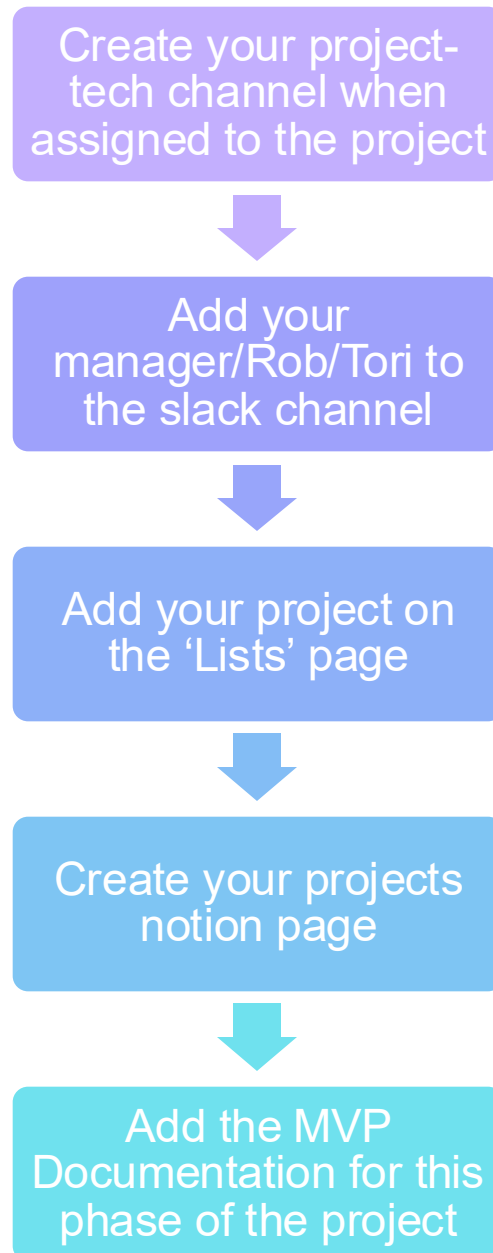

Pre-build Check-In

The objective: Ensure we've set the project up for success.

Unearth the unknowns and level set the project teams understanding of the project scope, timeline, and design.

MVP Documentation:

- ❖ Kick-off Deck
- ❖ Timeline
- ❖ Action tracker
- ❖ Scoping document

IRBo

No change 🎉

Post-Go-Live – 2 week check in

The objective: To understand the client sentiment so far and ensure we're acting in the best interest of PolyAI and the client.

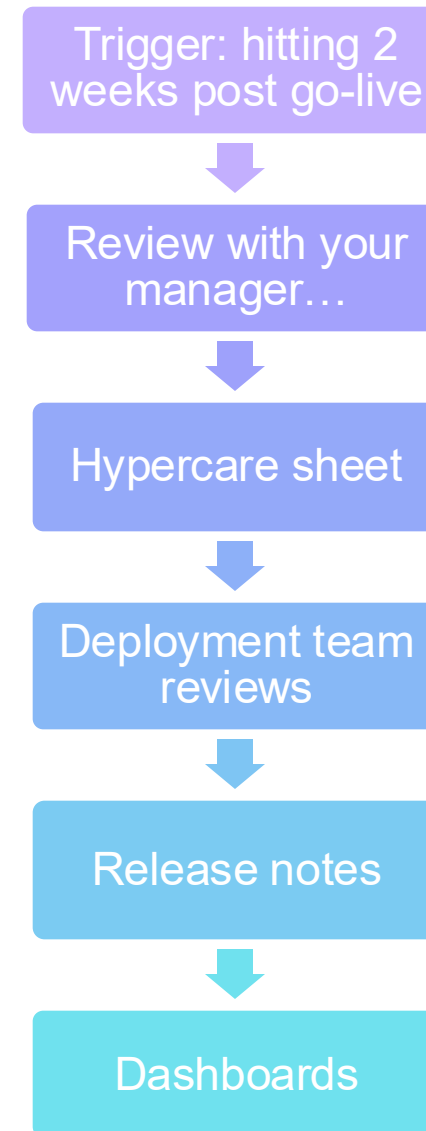

The expectation:

- ❖ Hypercare progressing
- ❖ Call reviews by the team
- ❖ Dashboards (Standard and additional for further discovery)
- ❖ Up to date release notes

Use this time to get input and advice on the project.

You are the mini-CEO during the deployment; how can you push the account to be better and grow?

Post-Go-Live – 4 week check in

The objective: To showcase your knowledge and understanding of the client, their use case, and how PolyAI can help them in future.

The expectation:

- ❖ Hypercare complete or planned for completion
- ❖ Present your response to:
 - ❖ How are we tracking towards KPIs?
 - ❖ What can we do to improve on the KPIs (if not met) / what 3 things can we change or propose to the client?
 - ❖ How are we tracking towards utilization?
- ❖ Prove that your clients have pushed a change to live
